

Work Scholarship

1. To be considered for Work funds, the student must indicate interest in work on financial aid application. Jobs are given out on a first-come, first-served basis so early application is important.
  2. Federal Work Study is awarded according to EFC (estimated family contribution) which is determined by the FAFSA. Work scholarship is awarded by the financial aid office according to demonstrated need.
  3. Student must complete student worker application available online—Students will be given instructions once work award has been accepted.
  4. Student must adhere to job requirements (scheduling, job duties and performance, etc.) and maintain 2.0 for work scholarship.
  5. Generally up to $2000 per year. Student will only receive funds for the hours actually worked. Student workers are expected to work 160 hrs/semester or 10 hrs/week.
  6. Athletes may not be awarded Federal Work Study or Work Scholarship in the semester their sport is in season or in training.
